

Opening speech of the President of the International Federation of Apitherapy

Dr. Andrés Castillo Montenegro
President of AEA Ecuadorian Apitherapy Association

Brasov – Romania, October 17th 2014

For me it is a great honor to address to you this day, distinguished participants, this beautiful project that we all call “Apitherapy”.

There are many ideas that each of us have created in our minds and they became reality in those hard working years with our bees, in order to reach the most noble purpose: to restore the health of all human beings who need or seek health and energy to fulfill their daily activities.

It is a big responsibility to carry out this project world wide, through the International Federation of Apitherapy, therefore, all distinguished members, let's dedicate ourselves, every day, to discover new knowledge, observe results, analyze trends, listen to new experiences, register data, in order to share with all members of this global philosophy called "Apitherapy", the necessary background and new ways to bring its homeostatic balance in our body and mind, to become a seed of social health.

With these words that summarizes the main objective of our organization, I do an intensive tribute to all who contributed to our discoveries, to the mentors who have left their legacy in the course of history, to all authorities that have allowed our development.

Thank you very much for coming to this Congress!
I hope we are going to know much better each other, to realize how things are going on in our countries and start or reinforce our international friendship.

On behalf of all collaborators,
I officially open our wonderful common event.

Thank you very much !
